Wedding Photography &

Your wedding memories are about real moments, real emotion.

So forget the awkward poser pictures. Let's get real and raw and capture the truth about your love story.

Life and love isn't a fairytale.

You left those childish ideals behind with your tattered teddy bear and the worn pages of your bedtime stories. But real life and real love, while full of hard work and difficult decisions, is still tinged with magic. And it lives in the little moments.

And it all begins on your wedding day.

The Journey begins...

Your wedding day is a day to celebrate that special bond that has irrevocably intertwined your lives, and you want everything to be perfect.

Every little, precious detail is planned.

But that perfect dress will be wrapped up and buried in the back of a closet. The beautiful, delicate blooms that decorate each ornate pew will wither. The carefully prepared food will be wolfed down.

But what will endure?

What will transport you instantly back to the cherished moments of your wedding day?

The slight tremor in your father's hand as he walks you down the aisle, forever saying goodbye to his little girl, leaving a married woman in her place.

The tears that shone in your eyes as you said your vows to each other.

The barely audible breaking of his voice as he pledges his love, his weary heart having finally come home.

Capturing your story, naturally

Your day shouldn't be about stiff, posed photos or pasted on smiles. It should be about capturing those intimate moments, the joy of having found each other in this chaotic world, the tender smiles, the sparkle of unshed tears, the uproarious laughter that comes so naturally around those you hold dear, and keeping mum calm about her baby leaving the family nest.

Your vision for your special day brought to life. I tell your story the way it is—real life and real love with all its attendant challenges and rewards.

And in 1 year... 5 years... 30 years from now, you can gaze at your wedding photos, those captured moments in time...

*and fall in love
all over again.*

About me:

I'm Peter Northall, and I make my own vow to you both on your special day. I will capture all the emotion, the shared glances, the laughter, the tears, and even your drunken uncle doing his best bird dance to the beat of the music.

Because weddings aren't supposed to be perfect. It's the messy little moments and the little hiccups that can make it so memorable. Your job that day? To relax, have fun, and revel in the celebration of your love. My job? To translate my years of photojournalistic experience to discreetly capture all of the special moments, and tell your story. Not a fairy tale, but real love in real life.

And you simply cannot pose those unexpected, magical moments.

Together, we'll bring that love to print (oh, digital as well, of course!) for you to hold close to your heart every day after.
